Seaside May Be Honored By Expo 74 Festival

Seaside may be featured city for a day during the Expo '74 Festival of Entertainment.

New Art

Show Opens

The Seaside Art Commission begins 1973 with a one-woman show of paintings by Zyta Laky with candles by Ike Lanning of Seaside and Mike Whitton of Pacific Grove in the display cases at the Seaside City Hall. The hours are 8 to 5, Monday through Friday through 31 January.

Zyta Laky was born in 1912 on the estate of her parents near Lwow, Poland, now taken by the USSR. She had her formal education in private schools in Poland, studying music, choreography and painting. In her youth she was undecided as to which of her interests she should follow until her aunt encouraged her to enter the Royal Academy of Fine Arts in Budapest, Hungary, where she majored in painting. While still studying, she entered her first paintings in the annual Fine Art Exhibition of Budapest, and her art career in public was started. While studying under several masters in Budapest, she had her works exhibited in Poland and Hungary.

In 1949 the Laky family immigrated to the United States from Hungary, moving to California in 1952. Four years later, finally settled in Carmel, Zyta Laky was again able to pursue her art career to its fullest. In 1960 she founded the Laky Gallery in Carmel. Mrs. Laky commanded great popularity and respect as an artist and a teacher. This exhibit is a review of her work over the past twenty years until her death in 1971.

The artistic candles on display in the cases are the work of two professionals. Ike Lanning sells his hand-crafted candles in Carmel and on Cannery Row under the name "The Light of Things". Besides his own original designs he will make candles to order from sketches. In the other case are examples of candles made by Mike Whitton, who sells candle supplies and teaches the art of candle making at the Sippe-wissett Wax Works in Pacific Grove.

'74 and to coordinate efforts here to send entertainment to the 1974 World's Fair in Spokane.

The international Exposition, "Celebrating Tomorrow's Fresh, New Environment," will draw to Spokane environmental exhibits by the major nations of the world, foreign and domestic industry and environmental concern groups.

About 30 other U.S. and Canadian cities along the West Coast have indicated interest in participating in the Festival of Entertainment, Kobluk said. The entertainment will be part of a continuing program throughout the six-month Exposition, which will run from May to October 1974.

On different days each participating city will be featured in outdoor entertainment on the Exposition grounds.

"The cities are being asked to participate in Expo '74 by sending their finest entertainment groups to display their talents before an international audience in a Festival of Entertainment," said Michael D. Kobluk, manager of special presentations at Expo '74.

On the day set aside in honor of a city, state, province or country, he said, the entertainment throughout the Exposition's plazas and walkways, and in the International Amphitheatre overlooking the Spokane River, will be directed toward a display of the local culture and traditions.

"Instead of official ceremony," Kobluk said, "the emphasis will be on fun, excitement, action and color."

Offerings include a wide range of cultural and ethnic traditions, including the pipe band of Penticton, B.C., a choir representing a Russian emigre community near Grand Forks, B.C., and the world-famed Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by Zubin Mehta, and the Roger Wagner Choral.

Meeting

The Marina Grange #518 will meet tonight (Wednesday) at 8 p.m., in Marina. A special event of the meeting will be the officers' floor instructions conducted by the District Deputy Clesson Buhler. Refreshments will be served. All granges are urged to attend.

By Clint Porter
(In the absence of Andy Barragan)

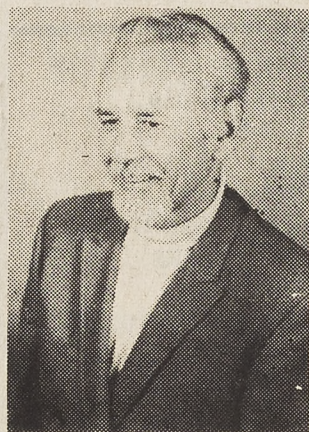

WE ARE OUR HEAVENLY FATHER'S CHILDREN - And He knows just how much we can bear.

Last year was not a good year for my boss, Andy Barragan. Nine months out of twelve found him in the hospital. This included Christmas Day. But Providence found kindness in it's heart to allow Andy to see 1972 fade away and 1973 blossom in. The legend says that whatever you may be doing when the new year comes in, has a bearing on what you will be doing the rest of the year. It did not work for Andy last year and so far is isn't working this year. January 8, 1972 my boss entered the Community Hospital, a victim of a massive heart attack. Such heart attack has felled many persons permanently. But not Andy. Slowly and with patience he aided and abetted the recovery (or should we say he "survived"?)

January 8, 1973 finds Andy in Los Angeles. Like the trip in 1972, this is not a pleasure voyage or a vacation. Luckily he is not entering a hospital. Unluckily he is attending a funeral. His brother-in-law passed and Andy and his wife, Jean, drove down. The length of the trip, time-wise, was not the best for a man in his condition, but the doctors forbade him to fly because he is not supposed to attain any altitudes. But he wanted to go. So they motored down.

Andy has learned to roll with the punches. That

Wood Submits Bill To Regulate Pay Raises For State Legislators

Assemblyman Bob Wood introduced a bill on the first day of the 1973 Legislative Session designed to keep the Legislature from hastily passing any salary increase bills without public hearings and review by state personnel experts.

The bill would require the State Personnel Board in its annual report to the Governor and the State Legislature to make recommendations for any cost-of-living adjustments for the salary to be paid Members of the Legislature. The State Personnel Board is responsible for the state civil service in California, but they have not been involved in scrutinizing legislative salaries. During the year, the Board makes surveys and conducts public hearings to determine what salaries should be for state workers. The Wood bill would require them to hold hearings and study legislative salaries as well. At the present time, the Legislature is solely responsible for their own salaries.

Wood said that the principal reason he was introducing such a bill was "to eliminate the possibility of any salary adjustment or increase being rushed through the Legislature in the last hours of the Session without the Personnel Board conducting hearings and determining what changes, if any, should be recommended," assemblyman also said that "in most cases people in private enterprise are not able to raise their own salaries and I do not feel it is right for Legislators to be able to raise their own salaries."

The Wood bill states that the determination of adjustments "should be made on the basis of sound personnel practices, and not at the spontaneous will of the Legislature itself."

The bill goes on to say that any adjustment cannot exceed 5 percent for each year and must "be based solely on the factor of the relative cost-of-living in California." The Wood bill also states that any raise over 5 percent must be "submitted to the people of California for the determination at an election."

Wood said, "Contrary to public opinion, most conscientious Legislators do not want the responsibility of setting their own salaries. In our bill, we are trying to have the personnel experts at the State Personnel Board study this subject and hold public hearings before the Legislature can act."

Seaside Can't Get Grant

Park Damage Is $1,000

The city will have to pay at least $1,000 to make repairs of damage caused by vandals at Metz Park, according to Parks and Recreation Director Cleve Williams.

The damage occurred over the New Year's weekend when the vandals kicked in four doors, damaged six light fixtures, broke a urinal and two windows, smashed a rainwater pipe, ripped out the telephone service wire and kicked a four by four foot hole in a wall.

After hearing the report of damage from Williams, the Seaside City Council discussed it, but took no action.

Mayor B.J. Dolan has reported that the city has gotten too rich to qualify for a federal grant to help build a recreation center.

Dolan reported to the city council that the city's application for a $276,000 grant was denied by the Department of Housing and Urban Development because the city does not have enough low and moderate income families to qualify.

According to Cleve Williams, Director of Parks and Recreation Department, the application showed that the city now has 17 percent low to moderate income housing. This is considerably lower than past years, he added, because of the redevelopment programs.

The center, which was to be built at Hilby and Wheeler, would also have been an educational and job training facility, according to Williams.

Applications Must Be In By January 24

Those planning to enroll at Monterey Peninsula College on a full-time basis during the spring semester have until January 24 to submit application materials, according to Louise White, college registrar.

Admission to MPC is open to all 18 years old or older, and to all high school graduates. There is no tuition for California residents.

The final English placement exam given prior to the deadline for full-time admission will be held on January 13 at 8:30 a.m. The placement exam is given for placement purposes only. It can be waived for those having successfully completed college work at another institution. It is a prerequisite for some classes at the college. The final placement exam prior to the start of the semester will be given at 6:30 p.m. on January 26. Both exams will be given in LF-103.

MPC offers a variety of occupational and academic programs leading to immediate employment or to further study at four-year institutions. The college is approved by the Veterans Administration for GI Bill benefits, and MPC has established a number of special programs to aid ex-servicemen in acquiring education and training.

The spring semester will begin on February 5. Registration, however, will be held January 31 to February 2. Late registration for students previously accepted taking fewer than seven credit hours will be held February 5-7.

In addition to the day program, MPC offers a comprehensive evening program for those unable to attend during working hours. It is possible to earn an associate degree through either day or evening enrollment, and occupational programs taught during the day are also available at night.

For more information about programs offered at MPC, contact the registrar at 375-9821.

NIGHT SCHOOL

Mail-in registration for evening classes at Monterey Peninsula College has begun, but students only have until January 17, to take advantage of this easier way to enroll, according to Keith Merrill, dean of community education.

Evening students using this procedure won't have to stand in registration lines, plus they will know in advance whether their class is open or closed.

Registration by mail is available to those taking night classes only. Anyone taking both day and evening classes must enroll during the scheduled day registration, January 31 to February 2. Regular evening registration will be held in the Gymnasium from 6:30 to 9 p.m. on January 31 and February 1 for those who don't register by mail.

Should students miss either the mail or regular registration it is possible to enroll in a class as late as the second class meeting. Late registration will be possible where openings exist through the second class meeting.

The schedule of classes being offered during the spring semester was mailed to residents of the district shortly after Christmas. Those who didn't receive a copy may get one free by calling the MPC Evening Division, 375-9821, ext. 252.

Cultural Center

Concerts Help

Harambe Clinic

The Del Rey Cultural Center, formerly the Del Rey Theatre, hosted the New Year with a concert Monday, New Years Day.

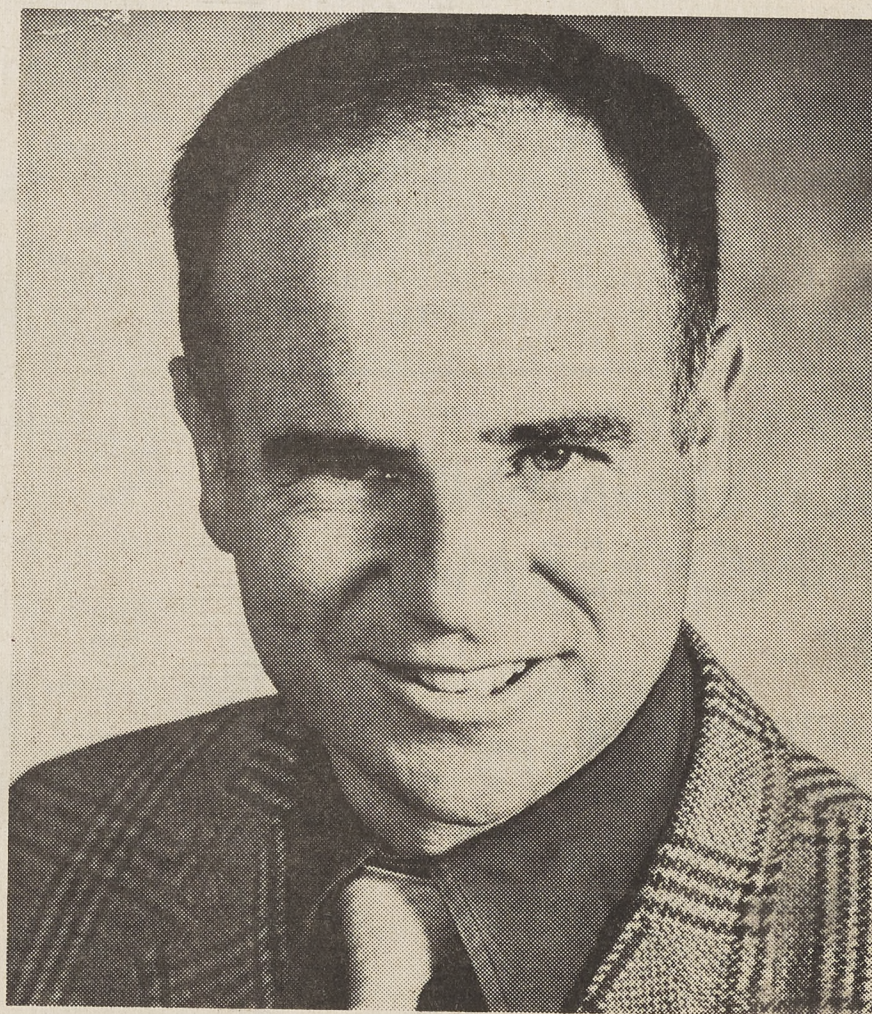

Entertaining there were the Ace Hill Trio, First Full of Soul, and The Elements of Peace, all talented local groups of Seaside. New Year's Day was a great success for the Del Rey. Many young people attended the concert that day to listen to the music and even to dance. Saturday, January 6, The Del Rey Cultural Center featured the Sound of Persuasion, and First Full of Soul.

On Wednesday, January 10, they will feature The Elements of Peace and The New Miracles. Here's hoping everyone will attend.

The concerts are sponsored by the Harambe Medical Clinic, according to Harambe Director Lenzy Donaldson.

Proceeds from admission charges will go toward a scholarship fund and operational expenses of the nonprofit clinic at 1188 Broadway, Seaside, Donaldson said.

Giant Birthday Party is Held

Wayne Pixley, assistant principal at Fitch Junior High School since it opened in 1961, had the biggest birthday party of his life yesterday (Tuesday).

That's because it was staged by all 1,060 students at the Fort Ord School.

Tuesday at 2:15 p.m., students filed out of their classrooms and down to the school's lower football field. There, each class arranged itself so as to form a "human floorplan" of the school.

So arranged, Pixley had his picture taken with the entire student body. After framing, the picture will become his birthday present.

Along with the picture taking, the ceremonies included band music and cutting of a birthday cake.

Afterwards, students returned to their classrooms, where each class had its own party. A school spokesman said the idea for the unique birthday celebration came from the students, who apparently wanted this birthday to be a special one for Pixley. Last month a health problem forced him to take a leave of absence for the remainder of this school year.

is good, because grief should not be suppressed. One of the greatest illusions about human nature is that the expression of grief will lead to a breakdown. Quite the reverse. No one has ever broken down nervously through the legitimate expression of an emotional reaction. The distortion, the concealment, the denial of our normal human feelings may well prove the breeding ground of delayed breakdowns. The truth is that we human beings are tough organisms and can withstand much rough handling. It is not the outbursts which harm the human organism, but the avoidance of them, which scars and tears the fabric of the inner soul.

A person should express as much grief as he actually feels. Do not be ashamed of your emotions. Do not be afraid of breading down under the strain of your loss. The pain that you feel now will be the tool and the instrument of your later healing. Friends should offer the opportunity and encouragement to the man who has lost a loved one, to talk about his loss, to dwell upon his sorrow, and to rehearse the beauty and the virtues of the departed one. We recognize the fact that the melody that the loved one played upon the piano or organ of our life will never be played quite that way again, but never close the keyboard and allow the instrument to gather dust. We all hope that the motor trip will not prove to be too much for Andy.

I have been attending some of the concerts held at the Del Rey Theatre. As you know, Harnabe Medical Clinic, under the direction of Lenzy Donaldson, is presenting musical concerts and probably later, movies in the theatre. Last Saturday someone decided to "play a joke" on the whole affair, so they spread the rumor that the concert was off. Even pleas from our local radio station did not fill the theatre. How people can be so cruel to other people is not understandable. The groups who performed last Saturday afternoon were nice. Let's help fill the place up. After all, the proceeds that are left over after the expenses will be returned to the community.

Remember a couple months back I spoke of Psycho-Pictography? Well, there has been several people who has asked me to dwell on the subject again. Incidentally, most of the information I have been reading can be found in a book entitled "Psycho-Pictography" by Vernon Howard. What I like about the book is that it reminds me of the Bible. It used parables to explain and express situations.

O.K., build a picture. A mental image of the subject: "Your castle." This could be fun - but best of all, it works.

A king was out hunting with his princes in a forest many miles from the castle. A sudden snow storm fell on the party. In the confusion, the king was separated from the others. When he failed to return to the castle after four days he was given up as lost. But on the fifth day he appeared in his dining room. Someone asked him how he had found strength enough to keep going. The king replied, "I remembered all that the castle means to me."

Did you see the picture in your mind? Yes you did, and it was plain and clear. The way the king was thinking will keep anyone going forward. Even while involved in difficulties and obstacles, we can remember what it means to succeed. The remembrance creates a powerful emotional force that carries us through.

It is helpful to concentrate on some specific castle, that is, some special goal of yours. Think of what it would mean to win the goal. The rewards that go with your success should already be inside your mind. They supply strength that keeps you going all the way to your castle. "A thrill passes through all men at the reception of a new truth." (Emerson).

Pursue this thrill. It is the only enthusiasm that will never wear away, that will never disappoint you. If you would permit the intensity to grow, it will do so naturally. Then you will know an excitement toward life that you have never known before. It is like observing a beautiful sunset. You are eager to experience the greater beauty that you know is only a matter of time.

Today, Wednesday, we are all going to whisper, or scream, our condolences to Andy and his wife. Let's hope they remember: "We are our Heavenly Father's children - HE KNOWS HOW MUCH WE CAN BEAR."

ing of the war, indiscriminately bombing civilian areas and hospitals and even our own POWs, so little is his regard for human life.

How long will the American public remain silent about the atrocity and horror perpetrated by the Pentagon and the Executive office? How long will people who claim to be Christians remain silent when the mark of the beast is clearly on the head of our national leadership? What will it take to make them wake up to the reality that America's present policies are demonic? Can we pledge allegiance to the policies of war without reason, and at the same time claim to follow the Lord of Love and Peace? We cannot. These two ways are diametrically opposed. He who is for war cannot be a follower of Christ. And he who is for Christ cannot be a follower of the path of war. It is as simple as that.

Yes, we are all tired of protesting after eight long years. Eight years of saying not! And still the war escalates. Yet we cannot, as this letter says, "lay down the burden of peacemaking but must be relentless in the pursuit of peace as others are in the prosecution of war." We cannot allow our weariness to allow the present course of wickedness. Our determination must be "even greater in this time of greater need."

As long as there is atrocity we must resist evil with the works of good, with the works of peace and love, and with the prophetic words of God's own commandment, "Thou shalt not kill!"

How can we stop it? We have spoken, marched, petitioned, protested and prayed for the ending of the war for eight years! What will work? I wish I knew the magic solution, but I don't. Until we have found that answer or until the war is ended we must continue to speak out, march, petition, protest and pray. We have no other choice. "Let your commitment be stimulated and secured not by the novelty of the action but by the urgency of the need."

Executive Director

The annual Installation of Officers for the Seaside Chamber has been postponed until February.

ary. I'll know the exact date and send out invitations in a few days.

We are now concentrating on the week of "Brotherhood - by the Sea" beginning January 22, with a variety show on January 27 at Monterey Peninsula College. We need your help, so why not come to our Military Affairs Committee Meeting on Thursday, January 11 at 9 a.m. at the Chamber. It will follow our Board of Directors Meeting at 8 a.m.

These next two months will be busy with the two big events, plus the California Association of Chamber of Commerce Executives annual conference will be held on the Peninsula this year. The meeting will be February 13 - 17 at the Holiday Inn. Special emphasis will be given to environmental problems and consumer affairs.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) Are there lower tax rates for widows or widowers?

A) Yes, a widow or widower who can qualify may use the lower tax rates to compute his or her tax. You are entitled to the benefit for certain widows or widowers if your husband (or wife) died within the two years preceding the year for which the tax is being computed and you meet the following requirements:

- 1) You must have been entitled to file a joint return with your husband (or wife) for the year of death—whether or not you actually filed jointly;
- 2) You have not remarried;
- 3) You have a child or stepchild who qualifies as your dependent; and
- 4) You furnish over half the cost of maintaining your home, which is the principal residence of your dependent child or stepchild except for temporary absences.

Q) I spent over $800 for an operation on my 22-year-old son. I can't claim him as a dependent because he earns over $750 and is not a student.

Can I still deduct his medical expenses on my return?

A) Yes. You may deduct medical expenses paid for a person you could claim as a dependent except for the fact that he or she had income of $750 or more, or filed a joint return with his or her husband (or wife). This means that all other dependency tests must be met, including your furnishing over one-half of the person's total support for the year.

Q) Which of my home expenses can I deduct?

A) Homeowners who itemize their deductions may deduct the real estate taxes paid on their property and the interest portion of their mortgage payments. Utility costs, repair and maintenance expenses are not deductible.

Improvements to a home or property are considered capital expenditures and are added to the property's basis. For more information, see IRS Publication 530, "Tax Information on Deductions for Homeowners." It's available free by writing your Internal Revenue district office.

PROJECT PRIDE

Project Pride requires City-wide support and the awareness that all of us have responsibilities. How do you measure or define PRIDE? Insofar as the City of Seaside and its citizens, PRIDE is generally reflected in its overall accomplishments which are in fact very numerous.

However, we do have to cope with a costly and continuing serious problem of vandalism to both private and public properties. On NEW YEAR'S Day, Mr. Arnold—who resides on Military Avenue telephoned a complaint to me. Mr. Arnold was unhappy because his children could not use the public restroom facilities (which were locked and boarded up) at Metz Park.

Why were the restrooms locked and otherwise secured? Mr. Arnold, these are the facts: The restrooms at Metz Park were severely damaged; the vandalism occurred during the evening hours after dark on the NEW YEAR'S week-end. The cost of repairs (to our TAXPAYERS) will exceed $1,000. The damage included four doors being kicked in; two restroom doors, one storage room door and one door to the Snack Bar area which must be replaced; the door locks and the door jams will also have to be replaced. Six light fixtures were also destroyed and will have to be replaced.

And, Mr. Arnold, that is only a start in the damage listing! A large hole, approximately four feet by four feet, was kicked in the wall between the two restrooms which will require the entire 8'x12' wall to be rebuilt between the two restrooms. A urinal in the boy's restroom must be replaced; the mounting bracket was also broken. This all required the application of considerable force. The wire glass in the boy's bathroom was broken out plus the clear glass in the Snack Bar.

And there is more damage, Mr. Arnold! The down spouts for the rain gutter were smashed and the telephone service wire was ripped from the building. Also very significant and yet to be fully inventoried is the considerable loss to the equipment stored in the building by Little League.

In 1972, Mr. Arnold, over $1,500 of your tax dollars went to repair the effects of vandalism at Metz Park. Now, before the advent of Little League this spring, we must spend another $1,000 taxpayer's money. What is behind the deviant behavior? Project Pride's effectiveness can be measured as something less than PRIDE using the above as a yardstick.

And there is still more, Brand new homes on Yosemite Street, Granada Street and in several other locations are being vandalized repeatedly. We are again asking for the full cooperation of all our citizens to accept their responsibilities and eliminate this problem. The damages to our physical facilities and our environment must be halted!

We need Pride and Responsibility!

GOD CARES FOR YOU

When Jesus was here on this earth he was very concerned about the lives of the young people as much as those of any other age level.

Jesus called the little children to him and said, not to the children, but to their parents, "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom." (Phil. Trans.)

You must let little children come to me, and you must never prevent their coming. The Kingdom of Heaven belongs to little children like these.

If you note, the parents brought their children to Jesus. These children were obedient to their parents. The children showed that they loved their parents. Jesus saw this in these children and that they could be used in service of God. Jesus was concerned about his present life and how he lived it. He told Jesus that he had kept all the laws and that he honored his mother and father.

Jesus wanted him to know that men can enjoy this life and yet go live with God. If you give up everything in this world and accept Jesus as your Saviour and you will have treasure in heaven you will have great blessing in this life. We young people are in a fast race of life, but God sees and cares and wants to come in and share our living with us and we can take of his goodness by living for him. Jesus says to young men and women, "I come that you may have life and that more abundantly."

mouth would have watered with envy if he could see the modern sophisticated weapons we have developed and are using to eradicate those communist farmers who have the colossal gall to want to run their won country.

On the other hand there may be nothing left of our B-52 bombers. The communist farmers have some Russian anti-aircraft equipment that is nothing to sneeze at, and we have apparently lost about a fourth of the B-52s that are equipped to handle conventional (non-nuclear) bombs. Our other aircraft are also being shot down much too fast for the Pentagon public relations people, and a strict news blackout has been placed on the whole mess.

So, it is now even more than ever before a matter of endurance. Will all the American bombers be shot down before all of the North Vietnamese are dead? And if the North Vietnamese still won't surrender when we run out of conventional bombs, will our President then exercise his Presidential prerogative and order the nuclear destruction of all of Indochina. This, of course, would go down in history as the American solution to the Vietnam problem, and school children would spend many hours comparing Mr. Nixon's methods with Mr. Hitler's solution to the Jewish problem.

And this may actually be the principal deterrent to the use of nuclear weapons. Nobody wants to be compared with Adolph Hitler, particularly someone who wants to go down in history as the greatest President we ever had. Lyndon Johnson was driven by this ambition, and it is interesting to recall that several months before he decided to give up the throne he became so distraught about the way the war was not being won that he ordered our forces to "go in there and win" within a certain number of weeks, and that particular item was hushed up so fast it broke every record for suppression. The latest Nixon push for a military victory may very well be an act of desperation.

All of which may be a clue to the peculiar behavior of the stock market when it started a long nose dive when the bombing was resumed. Ordinarily, the stock market is rather pleased at the prospects of more business profits, which a continuation of the war usually represents, but quite possibly even the "smart money" on Wall St. was more than a little bit frightened that the President was no longer thinking rationally about our business in Asia.

Richard Gardner

A native of the Hawaiian Islands, Richard Gardner was born in Honolulu Hawaii. Because his parents were service connected they moved around the world at the pleasure of Uncle Sam. During his childhood, Richard Gardner lived in Southern California where he started his schooling, only to have it interrupted by a call from Uncle. This time he did not have to move so far, as his father was stationed on the Monterey Peninsula. Richard was then enrolled in school in Pacific Grove and continued his schooling through part of high school. Again his father received orders, this time taking the Gardner family to the Philippine Islands. It was during this tour of duty that he graduated from George Dewey High School in the Philippines.

Upon the Gardner's return to the United States, Richard Gardner enrolled and graduated with a BS Degree in Business Management from San Diego State. After finishing his schooling, Gardner enlisted with the Air Force and served as a Jet Mechanic with the Tactical Air Command for four years. During these four years he travelled throughout the Middle and Far East.

Because of different classes, he took during his schooling, plus friends that he has met that were law enforcement connected, including a grandfather that was Chief of Police in San Diego, a brother, Vern Gardner, who is a lieutenant with the Seaside Police, Richard became interested in a career in law enforcement. He joined the Seaside Police Department in November of 1971, and has been assigned to patrol. After joining the Police Department, Richard has graduated from the Central Coast Counties Police Academy located at Gavilan College in Gilroy, California.

To further his career, Richard has plans to attend Monterey Peninsula College in the Spring Semester in order to pick up on some Police Science classes. Richard stated that he has a couple of goals set for himself at the present time. One is to obtain progress as far as possible in the field of law enforcement.

Gardner's hobbies include fishing, basketball, and reading history. It is indeed a pleasure to have an officer of his caliber working within the Seaside Police Department.

NOTE: LAW ENFORCEMENT CODE OF ETHICS (part two)

I will keep my private life unsullied as an example to all; maintain courageous calm in the face of danger, scorn or ridicule; develop self-restraint; and be constantly mindful of the welfare of others. Honest in thought and deed in both my personal and official life, I will be exemplary in obeying the laws of the land and the regulations of my department. Whatever I see or hear of a confidential nature, or that is confided to me in my official capacity will be kept ever secret unless revelation is necessary in the performance of my duty.

Bob Wood Reports

Maybe the next major social program to be enacted will be health care for all citizens, whether it be by our own State Legislature or by Congress. The costs of medical care have become beyond the ability of most people to pay. In fact, it has almost reached the catastrophic zone these days when hospitalization is required by one of the family.

The problem of high cost medical care does not affect those on welfare, nor those on medicare, for they are taken care of under existing federal and state programs. The people who are hurt the most are the middle-class, blue-collar worker, the steady workers like the majority of people in Monterey County who save and buy health insurance programs. Unfortunately, these people find when illness strikes their insurance covers only partial expenses. It should be pointed out that while 90 percent of the people in our State have health insurance, only 37 percent of the average person's medical costs are now covered under their respective health policies.

A Senator colleague is proposing a payroll deduction plan to finance a medical care program for everyone. It would still be considered private enterprise, however, as it would leave a free choice of doctors by a patient and freedom for doctors to choose their practice situation. Other social problems, such as social security, unemployment and disability insurance and welfare for the needy, have been worked out pretty well to the satisfaction of most. Health care, I can't help but feel will probably be the next program to be seriously considered.

'Voices from Appalachia' To Sing In Monterey

Singing of their mountain heritage in hymns and folksongs of eastern Kentucky, the "Voices From Appalachia," a 41-member a cappella choir, will appear at the Monterey Peninsula College on January 10 at 8 p.m.

The "Voices" are students at Alice Lloyd College, Pippa Passes, Kentucky, which is located in a narrow valley surrounded by steep mountainsides. Near Mouse, Dwarf and Possum Trot, it is about 140 miles southeast of Lexington. The California tour will be highlighted by the first airplane flight for 35 of the 41 singers, most of whom have never been out of the east Kentucky mountains or to a larger metropolitan city. During their California visit, the Voices will sing at Disneyland and be received at the state house. After watching the Rose Parade, they will sing at churches, retirement homes, and service organizations throughout the state and in Arizona, Texas and Tennessee en route home.

In addition to some favorite choral numbers, the "Voices" perform many lesser-known ballads to help preserve the Appalachian area's musical heritage. The music has a familiar sound—some songs are based on the five tones of the pentatonic scale (corresponding to the black keys on a piano keyboard), and some of it is modal music related to ancient Gregorian chant.

The choir will also present ballads and folksongs written by Abner Greider, assistant professor of music and the choir's director. Greider recently has published a collection of his choral selections and two single pieces including his original "Ballad of Alice Lloyd."

Because all students at Alice Lloyd must work part time to help pay their educational expenses, the Voices have been laboring overtime. They must make up work time lost while they're on the tour. Free will donations from the churches help defray costs of the tour, but the college must raise nearly $20,000 to pay for expenses for the trip.

Angry At Reagan's Veto

State Senate Majority Leader George Moscone reacted with anger and surprise to Governor Reagan's veto of his legislation, SB 1264, which would have brought decent school lunch programs to the 1,000 schools that still do not offer them.

It borders on the tragic that the Governor would veto a bill aimed at bringing nutrition into all schools in this state. It's not as if this is a "give-away" program to the needy. The school districts affected would apply to federal and state governments for the funds to operate this program and would charge the same for meals as in existing programs.

"As this bill went through the legislative process we were told that the diet of school children in this state is deteriorating. We were told that actually hunger is far more prevalent in California than is generally thought—that as many as 500,000 children may be hungry every day, or malnourished."

"We were told that the quality of what children eat and in many cases, the volume of what they consume, is not enough to make them good learners. We were told that the hungry child, whose pride won't let him reveal that hunger to his teacher, is often disruptive in the learning process."

"The Governor's slap in the face to the 500,000 hungry school children of this state means Californians will continue to operate under the false premise that all its children are well fed and that misbehavior in the classroom is not to be blamed on hunger."

"His veto and shallow reasons for it defy logic," concluded Senator Moscone.

XMAS EVE COCKTAIL PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Mann were host and hostess during a Christmas eve cocktail party in their beautiful home in Seaside. Christmas eve seemed to be a little quiet and dull for Betty, so she pulled out the party goods and with the help of a friend and her family, she produced a various delectable array of morsels. This included cheese fondue, caviar on wafer toast and smoked oysters. Over 40 surprised guests who were called at the last minute to drop by to help celebrate a little Xmas cheer, attended the gala affair, which was highlighted by the Mann's various assortments of new jazz selected Xmas albums.

The Mann's had as their house guest for the Christmas and New Years, Mrs. Mann's mother, Mrs. Martha Bohannon of Kansas City, Kansas.

To Hold Unity Services

The Episcopal and Roman Catholic communities at St. Matthias Church, Noche Buena and Kimball, will be hosts at a special "unity" service on Sunday, January 21, at 8 p.m., to which they are inviting all pastors and congregations of churches in Seaside.

Sponsoring the service, which will take place during the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity (Jan. 18-25) will be the Ecumenical Commission of the Diocese of Monterey and the Episcopal Diocese of Monterey and the Episcopal Diocese of Monterey which includes Seaside. Father Joe Watt is priest-in-charge of the Catholic Mission at St. Matthias and Father Chet Talton is vicar of the Episcopal congregation there. The two communities share a religious education program, and work together in other ways while sharing the building for separate worship services.

The January 21st service was prefaced by a gathering last Sunday night at the parish house across the street from St. Matthias of Episcopal and Catholic clergymen from the area, and members of the diocesan commission.

Theme for the service will be "We are Fellow Workers for God" and Fathers Watt and Talton hope that a large group from the Seaside churches will be able to participate.

The honor roll for Seaside High School's first quarter has been announced Patrick J. Kennedy, Assistant Principal of Seaside High. The list of those making honors are:

Auto Repairers Must Give You Written Estimate

Consumer Affairs Director, John T. Kehoe, announced effective immediately all California automobile repair facilities failing to provide consumers with a written estimate will be subject to a citation from the Bureau of Automotive Repair.

This new state regulatory agency has initiated a violation crack-down to cite any registered facility when a valid complaint is received. When taking complaints, Consumer Representatives of the Bureau will now query consumers regarding estimates.

Departmental statistics just released for the quarter ending September show failure to provide written estimates as the most significant violation of the new Automotive Repair Act. Of the 7,436 complaints received in this three-month period by the Bureau, violations for estimates were cited in 2,633 instances.

Robert Alexander, Automotive Repair Bureau Chief, stated the citation to be issued reads in part: "Repeated violations will be sufficient cause to ask for an administrative hearing." Requests for administrative hearings (accusations) are processed through the State Attorney General's office.

HERE'S WHAT DISCOUNT WITH A DIFFERENCE MEANS

Our Discount with a Difference program offers money-saving prices on the wide variety of high quality meats, produce and other foods which helped to build Safeway's reputation.

When we converted to discount, we made sweeping changes in operating methods. These changes, which included new pricing methods and the elimination of unnecessary merchandising expenses, reduced our cost of doing business. Our savings were immediately reflected in substantial price reductions. We introduced our every day low level prices which helped to make the discount program so popular and effective. With low prices in effect all week long, there was no longer need to postpone shopping until the week end. Low level prices gave our customers added incentive to buy from us all of their food needs. With shopping spread more uniformly throughout the week and throughout the store, our whole business became more efficient. We streamlined ordering, stocking and price marking. We increased checkstand efficiency and lessened the possibility of errors at check out.

Savings in our costs of doing business continue to be reflected in the prices of things we sell. Shop Safeway for the finest foods and a low total food bill. That's Discount with a Difference.
